Jap Aircraft and Ordnance Plants Smashed by Forts

500 PLANES STAGE RAIDS OVER HONSHU

Targets Include Two Airplane Plants, Three Ammunition and Powder Works and Arsenals

SECOND IN FIVE DAYS

By LEIF ERICKSON
Guam, June 26.—(P)—Ten aircraft, gun and ammunition factories on Japan's main island of Honshu were smashed by more than 3,000 tons of high-explosive bombs from 450 to 500 Superfortresses at noon today.

Roaring in at medium altitudes about noon (Japanese time) with an escort of Mustang fighters from two Jima, the Superfortresses dealt their most powerful blow to date in their campaign to erase Japanese industry with precision demolition bombing.

Some targets were hit visually, but others required the use of instruments through cloud cover.

The targets were two airplane plants and three ammunition and ordnance works in the Nagoya area; two airplane plants at Kogakigahara, near Gifu, 20 miles north of Nagoya; the Japanese army's largest arsenal and the country's largest propeller factory, both at Osaka; and an aircraft plant at Akashi, ten miles west of Kobe.

All had been hit previously, either with high explosives or in the recent fire-bombing campaign which burned out an estimated 112 square miles of Japanese industrial areas.

The raid, second in five days, was against the second-largest number of targets ever chosen for any one B-29 mission. It was executed only by the 11 targets neutralizing blows against Kyushu island air bases April 26.

Here were the day's targets:
Nagoya: Chugoya ammunition factory; roof area 1,240,000 feet, previously 35 per cent knocked out by demolition raid April 7 and fire raid May 19.

Atsuta arsenal works, producer of heavy and medium guns, 34 per cent roof damage from previous raids.

Nippon vehicle company, munitions and ordnance, 30 per cent destroyed by fire raids May 14 and 17.

Sumitomo Duralumin aircraft metal mill, previously 32 per cent destroyed.

All-India Radio Reports A New Invasion In The Pacific

Contradictory Japanese broadcasts today hinted at new Allied invasions of islands closer to the Japanese homeland, but there was no Allied confirmation and the Japanese perhaps were only speculating on the next American move.

The All-India Radio, heard in London, reported picking up one Japanese announcement that forces were attempting a landing on an island half-way between conquered Okinawa and the Japanese main islands.

Such a broadcast was not heard elsewhere, however, and the British radio, as recorded by CBS in New York, reported another Tokyo broadcast as saying only that an Allied invasion fleet of 200 ships "is expected to attempt landings" on islands about half way between Okinawa and Japan.

London, June 26.—(P)—The All-India Radio said a Japanese broadcast heard there today reported that Allied forces were attempting an invasion of an island half-way between Okinawa and the Japanese main islands.

The island being invaded was not identified in the broadcast heard in India.

Amami Guntō, Amami Oshima, Togara Guntō and Yaku Shima all are in the approximate location, however.

CBS said the London radio report. (Turn to Page Nine)

EARLY END TO GLASS PLANT STRIKE SEEN

Pittsburgh, June 26.—(P)—The glass workers' strike, affecting more than 15,000 employees in 10 cities, went into its sixth day today with an official saying he expected "an early end" of the walkout.

Joseph Froesch, president of the Federation of Glass, Ceramics and Silica Sand Workers (CIO), asserted at Columbus he had issued no direct back-to-work order to union members, but "forwarded to them a War Labor Board request that they resume work."

Emporium Welcomes Gen. Joe McNarney

Emporium, June 26.—(P)—Grinning at bright yellow placards proclaiming "Welcome Home, Gen'l Joe," General Joseph T. McNarney returned from the war to his home town of Emporium today, enthusiastically greeted by a cheering populace gathered on flag-draped streets.

The welcome placards lined the highway for the last 10 miles of the general's motor trip from Pittsburgh, where he and 63 other veterans from European battlefronts were given a rousing, whirlwind reception yesterday.

Victory Seen In Drive To Block F.E.C.P.

Washington, June 26.—(P)—Southern senators may abandon a threatened filibuster against new funds for the fair employment practice committee in favor of speeding money to a score of key war agencies.

They believe they can beat a move to give FEPC $446,200 for the fiscal year beginning July 1 without resorting to delaying tactics. Senator Bilbo (D-Miss), however, has said he is set to "talk until Christmas if necessary."

Stricken by its counterpart in the house, the senate appropriations committee authorized an FEPC amendment to the $771,535,765 war agencies appropriations bill which came before the senate today.

The measure includes funds for such agencies as Selective Service, the War Production Board and the War Shipping Administration, whose current appropriations expire Saturday midnight.

Because FEPC lacks statutory authority, it was created by executive order of the late President Roosevelt—a two-thirds affirmative vote is required before the senate can consider the proposed appropriation amendment.

Hence several southern senators say they think they can rely on more than one-third of those present to block the move.

DUBOIS COLONEL LEADS

Guam, June 26.—(P)—Heavy strikes at Ishigaki Shima airbase southwest of Okinawa, previously reported, were made by Marine Air Group 33 under Col. Ward E. Dickey, DuBois, Pa., a communique issued by Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced today.

DOUGHBOYS CLOSE IN ON NORTH LUZON

Fifth Air Force Bombers Rip And Ravage Enemy Making Last Stand In Upper Cagayan Valley

DEFENSE IS FANATICAL

By SPENCER DAVIS

Manila, June 26.—(P)—Fifth Air Force fighter and attack bombers, flying at least 300 sorties a day over northern Luzon, ripped and ravaged Japanese making their last stand in the upper Cagayan valley today as Americans and Filipinos closed in for the kill. Strafing roads and bombing concentrations of enemy troops and supplies wherever found, the Lightnings, Mustangs and Thunderbolts gave their most striking example of effectiveness in "death valley." There the 33rd Division's 130th Infantry Regiment, pushing east along the Balud river, north-east of Baguio, found Japanese bodies, fragments of vehicles and shattered supply dumps littering the valley slopes for eight miles between Bokod and Ambulao.

The carnage resulted from repeated aerial attacks and artillery pounding by 240 Millimeter howitzers.

Dozens of the enemy's Toyota and Nissan trucks were blown sky high by direct hits. Food and munitions dumps were blasted while the American Doughboys still were miles away. When they finally entered the valley, they found survivors of the Japanese division dazed, starving and unable to move. (Turn to Page Nine)

Successful Drive Staged By The Chinese

By SPENCER MOOSA

Chungking, June 26.—(P)—In a new spurt from the northwest, Chinese forces have captured a point three miles from Luichow, the Chinese command said today as other forces still battled Japanese troops holding an airfield an equal distance south of the city.

Troops moving in on the former U. S. 14th air force base city from the north captured Tapucheng, eight miles north of Luichow, and other units engaged enemy forces in the suburbs of Liecheng, 11 miles north-northwest of the city. Still other Chinese forces crossed the Liu river northwest of Luichow and are operating on the east bank, the Chinese said. The point, captured three miles north-west of Luichow was not identified.

On the China coast, nearly 800 miles away from the Luichow fighting, Chinese forces engaged enemy troops retreating from Wenchow as they approached Linhai (Taichow) in Chekiang province, some 65 miles from Wenchow.

Fighting continued in southwestern Kiangsi province, where the Japanese have been trying to smash a potential Chinese counter-offensive, safeguarding the approaches to Hongkong and Canton and strengthen the east flank of the Hanko-Hongkong corridor.

Two Public School Nurses Elected By Warren Board

Margaret Horan and Marion Robertson, both with fine records of public health work in Warren county, were elected public school nurses at last night's meeting of the board of education, their duties to include those previously handled by the attendance officer.

This position was made vacant by the resignation and retirement of Miss Mary Schultze, and it is felt the new arrangement will save much duplication of time and travel, since the attendance officer frequently must report illness to the school nurse and two or more trips are necessitated.

Superintendent John G. Fossman was instructed by the board to express to Miss Schultze its appreciation for her 18 years of service.

Charles Beck, serving as clerk in the illness of Miss Emma Akhrs, was elected regular clerk to the board, and David Spies was elected storekeeper clerk to succeed Mr. Beck. Harry Johnson was continued as delinquent tax collector.

Everybody Tired But Happy Battleship After Pittsburgh Reception Pennsylvania In Condition

Pittsburgh, June 26.—(P)—Laughter and tears, parades and speeches, banquets and blistering hot weather welcomed 64 heroes home from the European fighting front yesterday. Now it is all over and everybody is tired, but happy.

Some 100,000 folks lined a 23-mile parade route from the airport to town and cheered themselves hoarse, giving their plaudits impartially to general and G. I.

First to step down from the big C-54 transport planes which carried them on a 4,000-mile flight from Germany, Gen. Joseph C. McNarney, native of Emporium, Pa., commander of American forces in the Mediterranean, was greeted with a dish of American ice cream, his first in eight months. He ate it and said he yearned for a lamb chop and some peach shortcake.

A multitude of folk gathered at the city-county building on historic Grant's hill and heard Gen. Jacob L. Devers, commander of the Sixth Army Group, introduced as a "Pennsylvania Dutchman from York." Devers praised the home front for its part in the war effort and said "no greater welcome could come to us."

The generals may have been the big-name attraction, but they didn't steal the show. There were many scenes like that in which Tech. Sgt. Fred Johnson of Bradford took part. He spotted his wife in the crowd, showed his wife to her and planted a big kiss on her lips.

"Like this?" he asked. Johnson was wearing a Russian star, presented to him as a member of the first American patrol to contact the Soviets in Germany. Gen. McNarney said he would leave today for Emporium and report back to Washington. He hoped to have some Florida fishing before his 10-day leave is up and he returns to Italy.

Gen. Devers will visit York today and after that will take six veterans to Louisville and Ft. Knox, Ky., for receptions, and report back to Washington. He'll be at a reception July 4 in Columbus and then hopes for "some leave." His next job is an official secret.

At a press conference, the general talked about the European situation. Simpson said he favored shooting all the Nazi party leaders. McNarney favored sending them "to mines in Siberia."

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Branstrom, of Russell, have been advised by the War Department that their youngest son, Sgt. Walter Branstrom, has been reported missing in action in Tinian, near Saipan, since May 26.

Young Branstrom entered service on January 30, 1944, and went overseas in December, 1944.

He has two brothers in service, Donald, now home on leave from the southern hospital where he is being treated for wounds received overseas, and another in Florida.

At Lincoln, Col., Herbert W. Anderson, commanding officer of the air field, said in a statement that an exhaustive investigation has been made during recent months as to any past irregularities in the treatment of prisoners at the field, and that as a result, punitive action was instituted in the case of several persons attached to the guard. He said he was unable to state whether the Pennsylvania air cadet was involved in these cases.

Secretary of War Stimson was given full details of the incident, Gavin said, adding that the War Department has assured him "proper disciplinary action will be taken."

Washington, June 26.—(P)—Military prosecution may face the military policeman who, Rep. Gavin (R-Pa.) said, struck an unnamed Pennsylvania Air Cadet so hard with a stick that fillings were knocked from his teeth, necessitating 16 days hospitalization.

Secretary of War Stimson was given full details of the incident, Gavin said, adding that the War Department has assured him "proper disciplinary action will be taken."

DELEGATES OF 50 COUNTRIES TO HEAR CHIEF EXECUTIVE AFTER SIGNING OF CHARTER

Final Version of Historic Document is Approved During Last Triumphant Session With Ratification As Next Procedure

THUNDEROUS WELCOME GIVEN THE PRESIDENT

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Associated Press Diplomatic News Editor

San Francisco, June 26.—(P)—With great issues of war and peace hanging on their pen strokes, delegates of 50 countries went to a flag-draped conference auditorium today to sign the new United Nations charter, and then hear President Truman make his first major address on American foreign policy.

A triumphant meeting of the United Nations conference—its last working session—last night approved the final version of the charter. The signatures go on today; next comes the slower process of ratification.

Rapping last night's session to its close, Britain's tall delegation chief, the Earl of Halifax, who presided, solemnly told the conference: "I think we all agree we have taken part in a historic moment in world history." All controversy had been cleared away days before this final action, and the vote of approval was a unanimous standing vote.

The signing ceremony was called to start around 9 a. m. (PWT) today with Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo of China heading a procession of 153 delegates into the auditorium of San Francisco's Veterans Memorial building.

President Truman, who received a thunderous welcome to the city yesterday, is scheduled to make the closing address of the conference beginning about 5 p. m. His speech, approximately 30 minutes long, will follow brief talks by delegation chiefs of the Big Five and representatives of five small nations, beginning at 3:30 p. m.

Officials estimated that the signing would require about eight hours.

These ceremonies complete two months and a day of intense, debate-studded conference work. They make this symbolically one of the great days for which the Allied world has fought and planned since the second World War started—the day on which the victorious governments subscribe to a plan for preventing a third World War. ### Defiant Edict Is Issued By London Poles

London, June 26.—(P)—The Polish government in exile handed all Allied governments except Russia today a defiant declaration saying the "so called Polish Provisional Government of National Unity (in Warsaw) is illegal."

The London regime said it would transfer its authority only to a government which had been formed on free Polish soil, and which reflects the will of the Polish people as expressed in free elections.

The Polish provisional government was formed in Moscow last week, including at least five Poles other than those in the Warsaw regime.

The London Poles termed the new administration "a pseudo government imposed on the Polish nation, which is at present under the occupation of an alien army and an alien political police."

One spokesman for the London group, who declined to permit use of his name, said the new regime would be "a poor specimen of a puppet government and nothing else."

Commander-in-Chief Modest Over Thunderous Reception

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

San Francisco, June 26.—(P)—President Truman, pleased "with the handiwork of sculptors of a future league designed to keep peace, fashioned an appeal today for its support by all men of good will."

Acclaimed by thousands upon his arrival to address the closing session of the United Nations conference which drafted a formula intended to stop aggression before it gets started, the gray-haired chief executive said:

"It wasn't for me. It was for what we stand. It was for the president of the United States. They were cheering the office, not the man."

He spoke these words at a formal reception last night for all the delegates from the 50 nations who labored for nine weeks upon the basic charter of an international organization devoted to the preservation of peace, with force as a final weapon.

The reception, in the rose room of the Fairmont Hotel, where the president moved into a fifth floor suite, climaxed a historic day for Mr. Truman, whose 1944 political theme song, "The Missouri Waltz," topped the music menu at both his diplomatic welcome and his top-honor military reception at Hamilton Hall.

He flew here from a Pacific northwest vacation to bring the historic security conference to a close with an address at about 5 p. m. (Pacific War Time) after witnessing the signing of the charter by the American and many other delegations.

Nipponese Told Crisis Is Impending

San Francisco, June 26.—(P)—Premier Kantaro Suzuki told the Japanese people today they faced an invasion crisis unparalleled since the Mongol hordes swept over the islands more than 600 years ago.

In a cabinet message issued to the nation "on the occasion of the Okinawa battle" Suzuki pledged his government's "grim determination" to defend the islands against the American power gathering to the south.

The 77-year-old premier declared bluntly that the present crisis facing Japan "is the greatest one since the Mongolian invasion" of 1274 A. D. and added: "Now is the time to decide the destiny of the Japanese Empire."

"At this time of national crisis I request the entire nation to endure mounting hardships and difficulties with utmost perseverance" (Turn to Page Nine)

Churchill Is Unmoved By Opposition

Coventry, June 26.—(P)—Prime Minister Churchill, tired-looking but still sharp-tongued, continued his 1,000-mile electioneering tour through the English countryside today after taking cheers and boos with equal unconcern in the first day of his intense campaign on behalf of the Conservative party.

Led by a police escort and bowing and smiling from an open touring car, Churchill praised the United States, insisted upon friendly relations with Russia and flung taunts at his political enemies in numerous brief speeches yesterday.

"You haven't much chance against me with my microphone," he told Laborites at Coventry who sought to drown him out with their party song, "Red Flag," then as they tried to tear down the amplifying system, Churchill joked:

"You look so angry. I never get angry at politics."

Police estimated that 20,000 persons were crowded into the square of the bomb-damaged industrial town.

The prime minister told rural crowds that he didn't like to refer to the enemy in the Pacific as "Japs" because that term was "too familiar." He reminded his listeners that there was a fight still ahead.

6,557 Attend Playgrounds in First Week

Total attendance at the borough playgrounds for the first week this season amounted to 6,557, according to Miss Millie Kopp, playground supervisor. This amount represents attendance at the five playgrounds, Home Street having as yet not opened.

This week at the different grounds, activities will be organized for the remainder of the season along with the tournament and contest schedule. The baseball leagues will also be arranged during the week.

In the softball games, regular rules will be followed and the age limit is fifteen years. All games are to start promptly at 2 o'clock and seven players of the original team must be on hand in order to start the game. With the consent of opposing manager, a team may add needed players with the exception of pitchers and catchers.

Five innings shall constitute a game, and in case of rain the game should be played the next day at the same time unless captains rule otherwise. South Street and Beatty will use the Beatty grounds as their home grounds, and games between Lacy and West End and Lacy and South Side will be played at Beatty to lessen distances teams must travel.

One of the most recent uses to which gyroscopes have been put is in computers for aerial guns on Boeing B-29 Superfortresses and other aircraft.

Robert W. Mackay Memorial Books Displayed at Library

The display of memorial books at the Warren Public Library this week is another testimonial showing the esteem in which Robert W. Mackay was held by the people of Warren. Thirty books on several subjects in which Mr. Mackay was interested are featured in the special exhibit. All of the books have been selected also with a view to the library's needs, making them additions of real value to the collection.

Mr. Mackay's interest in the out of doors is indicated in the titles, Hiking, Camping, and Mountaineering by R. C. Geist; Wildwood Wisdom by Jaeger Ellsworth; The Highway to Alaska by Herbert C. Lanks and Bradley's Building Small Boats, which is on order. Books showing his interest in photography are The Amateur Photographer's Handbook by Collins and Sussman; Kodachrome and Kodacolor from All Angles by Fred Bond, with Wall's Dictionary of Photography yet to arrive.

An art title deserving comment is Aimee Crane's Art in the Armed Forces. Two excellent books of quotations, for which Mr. Mackay often used the library's reference collection, are the Home Book of Quotations edited by Burton Stevenson and a new edition of Bartlett's Familiar Quotations. Books in the educational field include The History and Organization of Education in Pennsylvania by Louise Walsh; The History of Secondary Education in Pennsylvania by James Mulhern; The Encyclopedia of Modern Education, edited by Rivlin and Schuler; and Teacher in America by Jacques Barzun, which is on order.

B. G. Erskine Buried Today From His Emporium Home

Emporium, June 26—B. G. Erskine, chairman of the board of directors and former president of Sylvania Electric Products Inc., died suddenly at his home in Emporium Saturday. Mr. Erskine was buried in Emporium from his home on Tuesday June 26th.

Erskine was one of the pioneers of the radio tube industry. In 1931 he merged his interests with those of Frank and E. J. Poor, founders of the Hygrade Lamp Co., to form the present Sylvania Electric Products Co. one of the country's largest electrical manufacturing concerns.

Sixty-two years of age at his death, Erskine was born in Buffalo, N. Y., on September 1, 1883. One of seven children he went to work at an early age and proudly recalled his career as a newsboy in his home town. His first full time job was as a telephone operator for a box and door company at two dollars and fifty cents a week. He left the concern to learn the electrical contracting business in Buffalo then shifted to the C. W. Beckley Company in Warren, Pa. In 1904 he went to Emporium to make the electrical installation at a new factory to be called the Novelty Incandescent Lamp Company. C. W. Beckley also serviced the equipment for the St. Mary's (Pa.) Incandescent Lamp Company where carbon filament lamps are made.

He became superintendent of the St. Marys plant, and shortly returned to Emporium in the same capacity. In one year's time he had the novelty works on a paying basis. In 1910 General Motors purchased the lamp works. Shortly after W. C. Durant, colorful and meteoric operator who controlled General Motors in its early days met B. G. Erskine, liked him, and placed him in complete charge of General Motors Pennsylvania Lamp plants. After Durant left General Motors in 1919, General Electric purchased the Emporium Company. In the 1921 depression after General Electric decided to close the plants, Mr. Erskine and two associates pooled their resources to purchase them from the General Electric. By their industrious and ingenious efforts the plants now known as Niles Lamp Works not only weathered the short depression but were soon prospering. In 1923 the Niles plant was moved back to St. Marys.

In 1924 Erskine reopened the Emporium plant forming a new concern called Sylvania Products Co. to manufacture radio tubes. Commercial radio broadcasting was then only four years old. By 1929 radio tubes were the most important part of the Niles-Sylvania operations. Production of radio tubes alone had reached 40,000 a day. In July 1931 the Niles-Sylvania interests were merged with those of the Hygrade Lamp Company of Salem Massachusetts and B. G. Erskine became president of the combined companies. All lamps were manufactured under the Hygrade name. All radio tubes under the Sylvania trademark. The combination became the largest "independent" manufacturers of lamps and radio tubes in the country. In 1943, Erskine became chairman of the board of the company. Today Sylvania Electric employs nearly 30,000 people in its lamp radio and tube divisions. It has become one of the outstanding electrical companies of the world. The policy of placing key plants in small communities which was a favored project of both B. G. Erskine and Frank Poor has proved such an asset that the expanded company with 30 plants still conducts most of its manufacturing in small Pennsylvania and Massachusetts towns.

B. G. Erskine was justly proud of his efforts to improve living in his own community of Emporium. He was one of the founders and president of the Emporium foundation, a non-profit organization which disbursed funds for community projects and benefits. He was president of the Emporium Trust Company, the only bank in Cameron County. He was also a director of the Cameron Manufacturing Company, cutlery producers prior to the war, now an all-out war plant. He belonged to the Elks, the Pennsylvania Society of Masons, and the St. Marys country club. For thirteen years he has been an associate judge of Cameron county.

Surviving are his widow, Jane Evans Erskine, three sons and a daughter, George B. Erskine is manager of the parts plant at Emporium. Bernard J. Erskine is a chief petty officer in the United States Navy. The third son, Branson B. Erskine, resides in New York and the daughter, Mrs. Frank Marchisio in Ipswich, Massachusetts.

NEW POSTAL RULING EFFECTIVE JULY 1

A new postal ruling effective July 1 holds that all newspaper subscriptions or renewals for overseas addresses, must be accompanied by a written request.

Such a written request is to be filed with the newspaper which in turn checks the request and subscription address with the postoffice department.

The measure, it was explained, is being enforced to eliminate the heavy pile-up of bulky mail so that "requested" mail can be speeded to its destination.

HAIL AND RAIN STORM

Western Warren County yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock was swept with a heavy rain accompanied by some wind. Near Sugar Grove a hail storm was also experienced. The mercury dropped rapidly after the storm.

PICTURED IN MAGAZINE

The current issue of Bell Telephone News contains an excellent picture of Sgt. Victor H. Larson, with a Signal Battalion somewhere in England. Mr. Larson before entering the U. S. Service was a lineman with the Warren Bell plant.

WALK IN USE

The new sidewalk from Third avenue into the police station has been unveiled and is now in use. It is a great improvement and when the sign recently blown down is replaced visitors in the city can find the station with ease.

BOYS BROKE DOOR

Boys playing about the Fourth Ward yesterday broke the door on the shed in which equipment is stored. Police rounded up a group of the boys and they had a conference with Chief of Police George Haehn in his sanctum at the police station and emerged chastened and contrite.

TO INCREASE SERVICE

Greyhound Lines announced Sunday that effective today additional service will be inaugurated on key routes to meet increased transportation demands. Greyhound's new Summer schedules also become effective today. One round trip daily is to be added to current schedules on the main divisions.

Golze was captured near Oil City on a freight train on one of his escapes and returned to Camp Reynolds.

THE STATE POLICE SAY:

Our driving decisions are so important that quickness loses all of its worth unless the decision is also correct. The following instructions definitely work against the making of quick decisions; Inexperience; Alcohol in any form which confuses thinking and impairs judgment; Fatigue and drowsiness; Slowness of reaction, etc. Avoid these conditions and your decisions will be greatly improved.

AIR MAIL SERVICE

The post office department announces that effective at once, letters acceptable for dispatch to Belgium, Denmark, France, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Norway and Switzerland will be forwarded by air mail if prepaid at the rate of 30 cents per half ounce or fraction thereof. #### NEARLY A PARADOX

With the employees of Penelec wanting a raise and the Penelec wanting to give it to them the War Labor Board is holding up the matter and a strike may result. July 5 has been set by the WLB as the date for a decision in the matter and the same date has been set as the deadline by the Union for a strike. Such a strike would greatly inconvenience all users of electricity in the city and over this section. Provision however is being made to care for the needs of hospitals and other essentials. Carl Keppel, business manager of the Union says that the strike may not be averted.

GERMANY'S FUTURE GOVERNMENT

Curt Riess, writing from Germany, reports that most Germans regard the Russian occupation as more lenient than that of the Americans or the British. He bases this statement on his observation of the American occupation program and on talks with people who have lived in the Russian-occupied zone.

The NEA Service correspondent writes that the Russians are giving their German charges more food than they received in the last months under Hitler, that plays, movies and concerts have been resumed; that radio broadcasts stress present co-operation and future hope, while ours are more inclined to emphasize past misdeeds.

Most of this Mr. Riess says he believes. And even at this distance there would seem to be logical reasons why he should.

The Russians naturally hate the Germans who overran their land, laid waste their cities, and inflicted barbarous cruelties on their countrymen. They have greater reason even than the French and British, and infinitely greater reason than the Americans, for loathing the whole German race.

Yet the Russian government realizes, as do other governments, that Germany must exist and be lived with in the future. Moscow is pledged to concerted action with London and Washington in ruling Germany until such time as the Germans are thought fit for self-government. When the time comes Germans will probably be permitted to choose an acceptable form of government in a free election.

Naturally each of the three Allies would like to see German government patterned after its own model. And the Russians would seem to have begun already a campaign to present communism in the best possible light.

Thus far they seem to be succeeding. After Dr. Goebbels' tales of Russian terror and vengeance, any gentleness must have been an agreeable surprise to the Germans. And if any of the numerous Communist Party of pre-Hitler Germany survive, they will undoubtedly try to help in making this first impression a lasting one.

The prospect of a Russian-dominated Europe sets many Anglo-American minds reeling. But the prospect is not a foregone conclusion. The Americans and British in Germany also have an opportunity to sell their way of life to the Germans through propaganda, education and general behavior.

There is no reason why communism, republican democracy and constitutional monarchy should not compete on their merits for German acceptance. But it is imperative that the occupying governments abide by the eventual German decision. The only alternative would be to let a defeated Germany again endanger the peace of the world.

MYSTERY OF THE MISSING BOTTLE

It seems that contemplation of wonderful postwar things to come may divert us from our present necessary duties. In fact, the nation's dairymen and bottlemakers tell us that it's already happening, in the prosaic matter of milk bottles. And they're worried.

Maybe we have been reading too much about those Post V-J-Day square milk bottles, or the beer bottles the dealer won't want back. At any rate, the milk and bottle people estimate that Americans are holding out some 25,000,000 bottles in kitchens and behind store counters.

That's bad, for several reasons. One thing, the War Food Administration says that we the people are using 25 per cent more milk than before the war. That takes bottles. And this is the time of year for Bossie's big milk dividend. That takes bottles, too.

Besides, the life of the average milk bottle is only about 40 trips from dairy to customer. Furthermore, distributors need eight bottles in the works for every one in your ice box to keep things running smoothly for daily deliveries, and a 10-to-1 ratio on an every-other-day schedule.

That's why the country's purveyors of Grade A are crying, "If you've got 'em, give 'em back!" And they aren't fooling, either.

Between the victory garden and the lawn there's never an idle moment.

But one short week to complete your plans for observing Independence Day.

SAY UNCLE

By DOROTHY BURGESS

Chapter 8

WITH Magnolia's words ringing in his ears Fred walked out of Winston Manor, climbed into his sedan, drove off down the long, winding driveway, and headed straight for the Tennis and Racquet Club, where John was accustomed to reside while staying in New York City.

Dr. Bliss was disappointed, when he arrived at the club, to find that John was out. Considering his mission extremely important, he decided to wait and strolled into the lounge. He hoped John wouldn't be too long, as already one hour had elapsed since he had left Winston Manor. As he sank into a deep leather chair he wondered what had taken place in the gloomy old house since his departure.

But Fred was wrong about the house being gloomy, and as for what was taking place—well, had he been able to see Uncle Louie, he would have seen the little, old white-haired man fling open the basement door and emerge into the great hall, gleefully shouting at the top of his lungs, "I've finished it! I've finished it! I've finished my formula!" In his hand he waved a small vial filled with a bright purple liquid. With twinkling eyes he jubilantly skipped down the hall to the den's door and thrust it open.

"Madge, my dear, where are you?"

Madge, who had suddenly turned domestic, was up on the second floor cleaning and sweeping his room, when she heard his call. With a dust catcher tied around her hair and carrying a broom, she dashed to the head of the stairs and peered down at him.

"I'm up here, Uncle Louie." By leaps and bounds he started climbing the stairs, waving his vial.

"It's finished, my dear; the formula is finished!"

"Not!" she cried excitedly. "So soon?"

"Why not?"

"He am?"

"I don't know," she said in amazement; "you said it was such a stupendous undertaking, that—"

"You forget, my dear," he panted and chuckled at the same time, as he reached the second floor landing, "that I have had over forty years to figure out my every move to the last detail." Short of breath he managed to whisper, "And now that it is finished, would you like me to tell you its secret?"

"Would I?" she cried. "I can hardly wait!"

"Come then," he beckoned with his little finger, "into the privacy of my room where no one can hear."

With bated breath Madge followed him, whereupon Uncle Louie mysteriously and quietly closed the door.

ALL this excitement Dr. Fred Bliss would have witnessed had he remained at Winston Manor, and had he, of course, been able actually to see Uncle Louie. He would have changed his mind about the house being gloomy, for the atmosphere of excitement became more electrified as the door of Uncle Louie's room flew open and an exhilarated Madge sallied forth. Undoubtedly, he had done an excellent job of enlightening her regarding his astounding formula. She actually twittered as she left the room and called back to him.

"I'll change my clothes in a jiffy and meet you in the garage."

Halfway down the stairs she nearly collided with Magnolia who was laboriously on her way up with soap and mop.

"What you-all shoutin' about, chile?"

Madge grabbed her by the shoulders and shook her excitedly.

"Uncle Louie has finished his formula! Isn't it wonderful?"

Magnolia's face darkened two shades from added worry. "You-all means de one dat's goin' to revolutionize de whole world?"

"Yes, but he's going to let me try it first!"

"He am?"

"He's a genius, Magnolia. A genius. Why if I told you the miraculous things his formula can accomplish you wouldn't believe it!"

"Dat's right," she agreed wholeheartedly.

"Be the darling you are and finish cleaning his room without me."

Magnolia watched Madge as she started to go downstairs.

"Where you-all goin' chile?"

"We're driving into New York City."

"You means you and dat Uncle Louie?"

"We have some very important business to attend to." Then Magnolia heard her honey-chile burst out laughing as she entered her bedroom and shut the door.

"Monkey business—dat's what!" mumbled the angry Magnolia. And while she stood there trying to make up her mind whether she should go up the stairs or down, Uncle Louie appeared, unseen by her, at the head of the stairs. He looked dashing and dapper, having changed into his nineteen-hundred-and-three street attire. Holding his cane and derby at a jaunty angle he started down the stairs, but stopped suddenly as his eyes rested on the broad mahogany banister. An impish expression came over his face as he recalled a delightful old habit of his. Not seeing Magnolia, who was just around the bend, he threw his leg over the banister, and, gripping his cane and derby, started sliding downward at a frightful speed. As he swished round the bend and shot past Magnolia with terrifying velocity, he caused a good stiff breeze that made her kinky hair stand straight up on end. Fortunately, Uncle Louie made a happy landing, and, with a satisfied smile, continued on his way to meet Madge. Magnolia looked as pale as a black ghost as she stood frozen on the stairs. Instinctively, she knew something had whizzed past her and she wasn't quite sure what it could have been.

Chapter 9

THE article in the morning newspaper by Felix Wilder, regarding the Winston separation and Marlo's retirement from the theatre, was taking its toll as it made the rounds. All who read it experienced the same emotion—shock. But the most indignant reader of them all was Ben Golder, Marlo's theatrical producer.

Ben was short, rotund, and had the habit of blinking his beady black eyes when excited or nervous. He was never without a huge cigar, which he gnawed on but never lighted. Ben had an uncanny knack for discovering talent and he turned many an unknown into a Broadway star. Up to the moment he considered Marlo his greatest discovery. He had found her, five years ago, in a honky-tonk "Rip" outfit, acting under her real name, Aggie O'Toole. She had captivated him with her terrific personality, flaming red hair, curiously green eyes, and her superabundance of sex appeal. She was a startling beauty, but innately common. Ben was smart enough to know that a natural spark for acting could be developed into a skyrocketing success, so he signed her. Within a short period of time his expectations came true.

Overnight, Marlo became a sensation in her first Broadway production. But what Ben hadn't bargained for was her volcanic temper. She had pulled the wool over his eyes. During rehearsals she had been as docile as a lamb and more than co-operative, but after the opening night when she knew her success was firmly established, she no longer bothered to conceal her true disposition. But Ben, considering her a star of the first magnitude in the making, overlooked her tirades and consequently took an overdose of unnecessary punishment.

To Marlo, life was but a stage and she played it to the limit. She was always acting—more so than the stage, and particularly since she had met John Winston. Her affected, "ritzy" manner of speech and assumed elegance had become painfully oversteered, and the only time Ben would get a glimpse of the old Aggie O'Toole was when Marlo lost her temper.

Ben knew he was in for plenty of fireworks as he sat waiting for Marlo to make an appearance on the bamboo-furnished and palm-planted canvased terrace of her swanky penthouse that overlooked the East River. Ben hoped, for his own self-respect, that he could remain a dud, but had his doubts. He was unaware of Marlo's presence until she called to him from the glass doors that opened on to the terrace.

"Good morning, Ben-nee," she cooed.

Ben could feel his blood boil as he rose from the bamboo chair. If she'd only quit that damned silly actin', he thought, as he silently switched his cigar to the other side of his mouth.

"I'm so sorry I've kept you waiting," st. said, as she floated toward him in a filmy, chasteurise chiffon negligee, revealing every box-office curve of her voluptuous body. "After all," she cooed some more, "your little Marlo could be very angry with you for getting her up so early in the morning, couldn't she?" She chuckled him under his double chin.

"Let's skip the baby-talk and get down to business."

"Really, Ben," she said in her most ultrafashionable tone, "you are so crude."

"Maybe so," he answered, "but at least I'm natural and on the up and up!"

Marlo's eyes narrowed. "Just what do you mean by that uncouth remark?"

"Just this," he said as he yanked the morning paper out of his coat pocket and shook it at her. "I've stood for a lot of your silly notions, but this one takes the cake!"

Marlo's temper was beginning to simmer. It was difficult for her to pretend innocence. "I don't know what you are talking about."

"What right have you to give the papers an announcement like this?"

"Every right, John and his wife are divorcing. He told me so last night."

"Last night? Fast worker, aren't you, Marlo?"

"I had nothing to do with it!"

"Of course not. A little carrier pigeon just happened to be passing by."

Marlo flung her pose aside and flared at him. "It isn't any of your business anyway!"

"That's where you're wrong, my dear young lady. It happens to be very much my business—you're under contract to me!"

"Now you listen to me, Ben Golder. I have a right to live my life the way I choose and a silly old piece of paper is not going to stop me!"

Ben bit hard on his cigar. "No, I can't force you to act."

"You bet your sweet life you can't. From now on I'm going to be what I've always wanted to be."

"And what's that?"

"A lady," she sighed dramatically.

"That's impossible!"

"Don't you tell me what's impossible!" she screamed. "John has given me his word of honor that he'll never return to Winston Manor until he can take me back with him as is wife."

"But Marlo, what about your career?"

"To tell with my career. I'm going to be a lady!"

Ben jerked his cigar out of his mouth in utter disgust. "Quit actin' and come down to earth, Aggie!"

"Aggie!" She was livid. He dodged just in time as she lunged the manuscript at him. "How dare you call me Aggie!"

"Because Aggie O'Toole you are, and always will be!"

"That's what you think in that bald brain box of yours!"

"That's what I know! You'll never make a society dame."

"Just what do you mean by that thinking remark?"

"Just this, young lady, the real McCoy doesn't have to act the part."

Marlo began to tap her foot rapidly. "I think you'd better get going, Ben."

Men and Women In the Service

Pacific Note Is Another VE Day View

Writing from a Pacific post of the ATS small ships branch, Paul K. Mulheim offers another picture of VE-Day in these excerpts from a letter to his wife, 1215 Pennsylvania avenue, east:

"I'm in a poor mood for letter writing, but it is 'VE Day' and it made us think of you at home, wondering how you are celebrating the victory, or if you are at home, maybe thinking of us. Our hearts are with the boys in Europe, our prayers with those who never lived to witness this day. It makes us happy to know that it is over—over there.

"As the gang listened to the news broadcasts this evening, a haunting silence prevailed. For us it is a different victory. The boys down here are hard at work—fighting and sweating it out, wishing that it was over—over here.

"As we listened to the proclamations, our throats grew thick and unashamed tears watered our eyes. A single thought hung in the air—"now, maybe I'll get home in a year". But deep down in their hearts they knew it would probably be more.

"Down here the days are long and hot, the nights a mad symphony in color, while at home we know that the hours blend into a peaceful harmony. When the war is finally won, a new life will appear among the men and women in service. An unselfish life that will preserve freedom and democracy for all mankind! Why does civilization demand such a sacrifice now?

"In war your brain gets cluttered, you become confused, and it's difficult to express your thoughts. I'm attempting to give life to an evening that now belongs to the past, but existed only a few hours ago! A unique and strange evening—this eighth day of May."

HONORABLE DISCHARGE
Included among soldiers given honorable discharges from the army at Indiantown Gap Military Reservation on June 22 is Pvt. Eric J. Frodelius, Sugar Grove RD 3.

Keith Chase, of North Warren arrived home this morning. He was given a royal welcome by his friends as he was released but a few short weeks ago from a German prison camp.

Capt. Spencer Is Presented Flying Cross

Captain Howard W. Spencer, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Spencer, Youngsville, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, his 13th decoration.

Captain Spencer, leading an element on a bombing mission, scored direct hits on an enemy marshalling yard, and then observing a fellow pilot in danger, altered his course through intense flak and guided the damaged plane to the safety of the Allied lines.

A veteran of 85 combat missions, Captain Spencer also wears the Air Medal with 12 Oak Leaf Clusters, and the Presidential Unit Citation awarded to the 405th Fighter Group for its support of the Third Army sweep across France last fall. He has destroyed three enemy aircraft, one of them in the air.

A graduate of Youngsville High School and the Bentley School of Accounting, he was with the Westinghouse Electric Company of Sharon and Pittsburgh before entering the air force in January 23, 1942.

WOUNDED AT OKINAWA
Mrs. J. M. Bailey, Verbeck street, has received a letter from the commanding officer of a naval base hospital in Hawaii confirming information that her brother, Paul Conway, petty officer first class, was wounded in action at Okinawa when his destroyer was damaged in a recent engagement.

CAPT. ROGERS AT INDIANTOWN GAP
According to an Associated Press dispatch received today, Captain Edward K. Rogers, pastor on leave from First Lutheran church of Warren, has joined the staff of chaplains at the Indiantown Gap Military Reservation following 33 months overseas with the First Division and a leave at home with family and friends. Since entering service in 1942, Capt. Rogers participated in three D-Day landings and seven campaigns with the First, the nation's oldest infantry division.

Sgt. Thomas J. Masterson, with a signal company in Newfoundland since 1942, and recently transferred to the States, has again been assigned to his former post in Newfoundland. He was home on a weekend leave and left last evening for Fort Dix, from where he will leave for his northern post. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Masterson, Canton street.

"E" Bond Ownership Limited Explained by Reserve Bank

Ray M. Gidney, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland, in response to a number of questions, has explained how an individual may legally acquire "well over" the $5,000 maturity value of "E" Bonds during any one calendar year. The information may be of especially timely value to many people here who now hold $5,000 in "E" Bonds purchased this year, but who would like to help the county reach its seriously lagging "E" Bond quota in the 7th year loan.

In a recent letter to war bond issuing agencies in the Cleveland Federal Reserve District which includes Warren county, Mr. Gidney makes the following explanation:

"The following or similar purchases of Series 'E' Bonds may be made each calendar year for a family of five persons provided not more than $5,000 is applied to the holdings of any one co-owner."

John Smith or Mrs. Mary Smith $10,000.

action on Okinawa on June 7, receiving injury to his right arm, his back, internal organs and abdomen.

IS BACK FLYING
Mrs. Harry Rickard, 16 Prospect street, has received word from her nephew, Samuel Lettice, who was injured recently in a plane accident at Iwo Jima, that he has rejoined his outfit and is flying again.

John Smith or Miss Jane Smith $5,000.
John Smith or John Smith, Jr. $5,000.
John Smith or Harry Smith $5,000.
Total holdings of the Smith family, $25,000.

"Bonds issued in co-ownership form may be held or redeemed either co-owner and, upon the death of one co-owner, will be payable to the surviving co-owner. From the above example, it will be observed that the Treasury Department permits the acquisition of well over $5,000 maturity value of bonds through the use of co-ownership form of registration. Complete regulations are contained in Treasury Circular No. 530, copy of which has been furnished all agents."

Cites Need For Boxing Commissioner

By J. HERBERT ALTSCHULL
Philadelphia, June 26—(AP)—Boxing needs a national commissioner "to eliminate the malpractices in the game today," Navy Lt. Joe Orsini, former University of Pittsburgh boxing coach, said today.

Lt. Orsini, on temporary duty in Philadelphia after returning from a year in the Pacific, said a boxer should be required to have a record card containing his name, weight, picture and results of previous matches "to guard against false information about his past bouts."

The cards would be signed by the state boxing commission before the fighter receives his purse, Orsini asserted.

A man such as the late baseball commissioner, Kenesaw Mountain Landis, or the present commissioner, Senator A. B. (Happy) Chandler, "could do a lot towards cleaning up boxing," Orsini said.

Before a manager is issued a license, Orsini said, "he should be investigated thoroughly as to character, financial status and ability to handle men so that a fighter will not be forced to work under a handicap, either financially or educationally."

Orsini, who won the National AAU 126-pound boxing title in 1928, boxed professionally in 1931 and 1932, and holds decisions over Mickey Walker, Teddy Yarrow, Harry Forbes, Tony Canzoneri and others. He coached the Memphis (Tenn.) Naval Air Station to 16 straight boxing match triumphs in 1943.

Orsini, together with Commanders Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney, officiated at boxing matches in the Pacific as part of the navy's physical training program. "In Japan, boys begin to practice boxing at the age of 12 or younger," Orsini said. "This training has helped a lot to make the Japanese so difficult to defeat."

He said it would come under the jurisdiction of the commission to try to arrange boxing training for America's youth "to teach combat activity from early ages so that we will always be prepared to defend our democratic way of life."

Orsini said Jack Dempsey stated a commissioner would be a good thing for boxing. Orsini said he told Dempsey he had the popularity to become the sport's commissioner.

"Me?" Orsini quoted Dempsey as saying. "I haven't had the education for the job."

PRE-WAR STUFF

Penn State's all-time high in football was the 348 points scored while winning eight and losing two in 1916.

STRICTLY ALL-AMERICAN

Penn State's unbeaten football teams of 1909, 1911 and 1912 were coached by Bill Hollenback, former Penn All-American.

Behind the Lines

Welterweight champion Freddie "Red" Cochrane, who fights Rocky Graziano in a non-title bout in Madison Square Garden Friday night, told New York boxing writers yesterday that he was "no bum." He asked the scribes to "stop calling me a bum and a chouse champion at least until Friday night." And Ike Williams, Trenton, and Gene Burton of Scranton won't climb into the ring for their scheduled 10-round non-title bout tonight. Williams, NBA lightweight holder, told promoter Herman Taylor he hasn't recovered from chest and hand injuries received when Willie Joyce outpointed him in Madison Square June 8.

Tomorrow, one of the town's most outstanding sport followers celebrates another birthday. This man has gone beyond the age where he can get out and be right in there playing, but he still has that lively interest in every sports happening going on. Years ago, when he was in High School, he was rated among the best runners in this section and he also had much to do with the old Nameless Five back in 1926. Congratulations to Merle Graham.

Last night at Russell Field, a group of interested baseball players turned out for the first practice session of the New Warren team. Joe Massa, his brother Steve, and Bob Schussler made up the list of experienced baseballers who will lead the boys throughout the campaign. Just to give sport fans a glimpse of the new team, it has a very snappy infield, even though most of the boys are young and have not had a great deal of experience. Ray Reed, former Struthers third sacker, takes the hot spot and Don Gheres is at short. Billy Massa takes second and Dean Whittaker first. Whittaker and Massa graduated from W.H.S. in June and the other two have one year left. Schussler and Dave Lopez, also a high schooler, will take on the mound duties and extra hurlers may be added. Steve Massa will be doing the receiving, with Joe Massa and two others to be named in the outfield. The team will practice again tonight at 6:15 on Russell Field.

Here and There: Al Buerkle, ex-high school basketball, is home after spending several months in a German P-W camp and relates some of his experiences there. Buerkle played under Heinie Kolpien with Jim Urbanski, Dean Nelson, Bud Matthews and Chuck McLean in '42-3. . . . Chuck Rigney, basketball coach at Jeannette High School, died yesterday at Greensburg from a ruptured appendix. . . . The same day Mel Ott took the National League total bases record from Honus Wagner, Jimmy Foxx blasted a homer and passed Wagner as leading right hand hitter in the department.

"Don't Wake Me"

On the level, did you ever see a sillier expression than that on Dixie Walker's kisser as he complacently contemplates the ecstasy of Dem Burns strutting high and handsome at the top of the National League "n-nant race"?

Tami Scores 1-Round K.O. Of Lou Nova

By BILL KING
Boston, June 26—(AP)—Iron-fisted Tami Mauriello, young New York heavyweight, appeared assured of doing some post-war battling with the U. S. Army's Billy Conn or Champion Joe Louis today on the strength of his one-round knockout of Lou Nova, the Los Angeles veteran.

Nova, who had put together an impressive winning streak in recent months, lasted only two minutes, 47 seconds with the hard-slugging New Yorker when they put on their second clash last night before a disappointing paid crowd of 7,334 at Fenway Park.

During the first minute of their scheduled 10-rounder, Mauriello landed a terrific right that opened a cut over Nova's left eye while bruising that side of his face. The Californian then made a feeble effort to get going, only to stumble and go down on one knee for a nine-count under a left hook to the head.

After taking a heavy two-fisted battering about the head, Nova came off the ropes with his guard down and was met with another bone-crushing right near the jaw that dropped him face-down for the full-count. Mauriello weighed 197, six pounds less than his hapless rival, who was the victim of a six-round technical knockout decision in their first bout in New York about three years ago.

Warren County Can Buy that 3rd B-29

TOMORROW

So far in this Mighty Seventh War Loan, you people of Warren County have subscribed the money needed for TWO of our promised THREE "Super-Fortress" B-29's. In addition, you've put up, to date, about $400,000 toward the THIRD super-bomber at $600,000 each.

That means WE'RE SHORT A FINAL $200,000 and we have ONLY 4 MORE DAYS TO RAISE IT! Uncle Sam can't buy a B-29 for $400,000. Our pilots can't fly two-thirds of a plane over Japan. AND WE CAN'T AFFORD TO BREAK OUR PROMISE TO OUR BOYS WHO ARE DOING THE FIGHTING AND THE DYING every day this war goes on.

So what are we going to do about it?

WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO ABOUT IT—yes, YOU?

YOU can supply that missing plane our air force needs. You can go out tomorrow and BUY ONE MORE BOND. YOUR Bond, plus those of thousands of others purchased TOMORROW will make the difference between failure and success—the difference, perhaps, of one day or one week or maybe even one month in the length of the war.

And you CAN afford it—if you've got as little as $18.75 in stamps or cash—if you've got as much as $37.50 or $75 or $375 or $750. For that $25 or $50 or $100 or $500 or $1,000 Bond YOU buy tomorrow is what is needed to put Warren County's 7th War Loan "over the top" where it belongs.

Will YOU have it on your conscience that YOU caused the 7th War Loan to fail in Warren County? Will YOU blame yourself for contributing to the length of the war even by one minute or one hour? YOU WON'T if YOU go out tomorrow and buy the BIGGEST additional "E" Bond that YOU can buy.

Kagamiyashara: Kawasaki aircraft assembly plant, damaged 35 per cent in June 22 raid;

Mitsubishi aircraft plant, lightly damaged June 22.

Osaka: Sumitomo Propeller and Duralumin factory of 2,200,000 square feet, escaped heavy damage in previous Osaka raids;

Army arsenal, Japan's largest, producer of medium and small arms, 200,000 feet of roof damage in fire raids March 13-14.

Akashi: Kawasaki Aircraft plant, production stopped by demolition raid June 19 but since repaired and bombed again June 22.

With the B-29s thus hastening to enforce Gen. H. H. Arnold's promise of bombs on Japan at a rate of 2,000,000 tons a year by July 1, other American planes were striking the enemy throughout the Pacific.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced that fleet air wing one had sunk 122,645 tons of Japanese shipping and damaged 128,890 tons since beginning operations "over enemy waters" about ten weeks ago. They also destroyed 36 Japanese planes and damaged 24.

The 31st Army group from Okinawa hit three Japanese airfields on Kyushu and two at Amami, north of Okinawa, Saturday.

Marine planes struck an air-drome at Ishigaki, Shima, southwest of Okinawa, strafed in the southern Ryukyus, and hit a freighter in the Suikoku area besides sweeping over the Palau and Marshalls.

Manila, June 26—(P)—In the southwest Pacific and East Indies, American raiders rolled up this score:

Wrecked three freighters and two sailing vessels southwest of Hongkong, bombed oil storage facilities at Nanking; set fire to an alcohol plant and barracks on Formosa; again bombed Balokpapan on eastern Borneo, destroyed four coastal vessels west of Borneo, and raided Malang air-drome, eastern Java.

"Elephant Bill's" Burma Army Unlike Any in Whole World

By HENRY B. JAMESON
London—(P)—They don't give medals to elephants but no story of how the lion, drawn out war in Burma was won would be complete without mention of "Elephant Bill" Williams' unique army unit.

There is no other military outfit like it anywhere. It is a labor company made up solely of elephants—more than 200 of them—and their handlers.

Their main job was building log bridges and carving roads through dense jungles where no roads existed before. But the elephants carried out many other important assignments like evacuation of the sick. Each animal could carry three men 12 miles a day over roads that were impassable even to mules.

Boss man is Lt. Col. J. H. Williams, one of the world's foremost experts on organization of elephant labor who is known throughout Burma as "Elephant Bill". He is a tall Cornishman who fought with the Devon regiment in Egypt, Mesopotamia and India in the last war and then spent 25 years in Burma as an employee of the Bombay-India Burma Trading Corporation.

The use of elephants in the Burma campaign dates back to 1941 when civilians were evacuated during the retreat from the Chindwin river to the Imphal plain. A shuttle system was operated from Sittang to Aungmye. About 5,000 elephants, formerly belonging to the big teak extraction firms and local contractors, were left behind in Burma. The Japanese, who had used this type of transport in bringing their mortars through Siam, continued to use them in Burma.

In November, 1942, a group of British officers and natives, headed by Col. Williams, managed to "persuade" 60 elephants to bolt from the Japanese lines on the Chindwin banks. Women and children volunteered as mahouts.

This herd, was the embryo of the present organization. By the time the 23rd Indian Division reappeared in the Kaway valley the elephants had bridged all the streams, enabling the division to bring all its vehicles in.

However, the first showers of the 1943 Monsoon trapped many of 23rd vehicles and the elephants squelched back through the mud to drag the bogged trucks and guns out to high ground. By the time the army was ready to return after the Monsoon, all the bridges again had been relaid by the elephant gang.

War Workers Buy Country Club

By MARGARET HYDE

AP Newsfeatures
Detroit—This season the Indianwood Golf and Country Club, valued at $1,000,000 and one of the best-known summer playgrounds in Michigan, is the Foreman's Association of America Country Club.

The 18-hole golf course where Gene Sarazen won the 1934 Western Open golf championship is being used by Detroit war plant foremen and their families and friends. In the spacious ballroom regular Saturday night dances are held. Membership privileges, which formerly cost Mr. Elite $1,500 initial fee and $150 yearly dues, are available to Mr. Foreman for a $15 membership charge and one dollar per month.

The Foreman's Association of America, independent labor union for foremen, signed a 5-year lease for the 170-acre club early this year. F.A.A. president Robert H. Keys believes this is the first project of its kind ever undertaken by a labor union, and describes leasing the club as another step in the original purpose of his association.

The club is located at the tip of Lake Orion, one of Michigan's loveliest inland lakes, and provides a complete range of recreational facilities. Besides the golf course, there is a bathing beach with boating and fishing provisions, a 12-acre picnic ground, and an 18-acre athletic field complete with baseball diamonds and tennis courts.

A spacious clubhouse contains a luxurious lounge, plenty of indoor sports equipment, and a dining room where 1,400 can be served. After the summer's program of tournaments and entertainment is completed, says Keys, the club will go on functioning as a winter sports center with toboggan slides and skating and skiing.

Library Will Serve Pupils at School Houses

The Warren public library started its neighborhood summer library program Monday at the Home street school. This program is planned especially for the children, who find it difficult to go to the central library on Market street.

Once a week, Miss Georgia Spinner, of the public library staff, will visit Home Street, Lacy and McClintock schools. The visits are made in the mornings, from eight o'clock until noon. The visit to Home street school will be made each Monday morning until August 28th. The day at Lacy school is Tuesday and at McClintock Wednesday.

Books will be circulated each morning of the weekly visits. A story telling period will be conducted each time at 10:30. There

Newspapermen Given a Fine Example of Army Speed In Redeployment of Soldiers

Not any of the 300 newsmen, including this representative of the Times-Mirror, who were privileged to see the 14,000 youths in command of Maj. Gen. Harris M. Melasky, composing the famous 88th (Blackhawk) Division, which docked in New York Sunday, June 17th as they returned from Germany for redeployment, is inclined to doubt the prediction made by that officer that "The crack infantry division will help to considerably shorten the war against Japan."

"ETO to Tokyo" is the slogan of the 88th, which readers of this paper perhaps noticed on a banner flying aloft on the picture of the Transport General Brooke, as printed in the issue of June 18th. ETO stands for European Theatre of Operations, and the banner slung between the fore and aft masts of the transport thrilled everyone who saw it in New York harbor.

The troops were met at one of the four piers in New York, taken immediately on huge troop trains to Camp Kilmer, and the following day were traveling again to reception centers nearest their homes. This process was an example of speed in organization that amazed the newsgatherers. At reception centers most of the men were granted 30-day furloughs. Three from this area were furloughed from Fort Dix, N. J., and headed for their homes Monday, June 18th.

The division will be reassembled at Camp Gruber, Okla., after the furloughs, for training in Pacific warfare tactics. The 88th were told, is the baby among the Army's combat divisions and the first to be ordered from Europe to the Pacific. It is known for its youthful personnel, most of them are air force cadets or Army special training program boys transferred into the infantry early in 1944.

The boys—their average age is 22 years—came home aboard the General Brooke, the James Parker, the General Bliss and the Marine Fox to a tumultuous welcome unparalleled since World War I. The din of whistles on harbor craft was deafening; service bands blared forth martial airs mixed with "hot" music; the Wac band brought shouts of delight from the veterans. Overhead a Navy blimp drifted lazily, sending down over an amplifier service tunes and swing.

Sec. Patterson and his party boarded a small Army cutter that joined three of the transports in the Narrows. Chugging up the bay with them were 300 reporters, photographers and radio representatives aboard the harbor boat Sandy Hook.

A thin fog covered the Bay at 7 A. M. when the Parker, the Bliss and the Brooke pulled up anchors after waiting several hours for the dawn to break. As the transports and the accompanying vessels picked up speed they came abreast of the boat containing the Wac band. The roar from the tightly packed decks could be heard, it seemed, for miles inland.

The haze that still covered the Bay lifted as the vessels passed the Statue of Liberty and the New York skyline came into view. Ten-foot "Welcome Home" signs were visible on several buildings.

Just after 8 A. M. the first of the veterans set foot on United States soil again. Three of the ships docked at North River piers; the Marine Fox, the last to arrive, put in at Stapleton, S. I., at 4 p. m.

The parade of the 88th up New York Bay in the transports was a thrilling sight. We had been summoned at 4:30 o'clock Sunday morning giving us an hour to prepare for the trip by special busses from Camp Kilmer to New York. We boarded the Sandy Hook, the luxurious commuter on which Jersey Shore millionaires used to breakfast on their way to Wall Street. We came alongside in the narrows between the Staten and Long Island shores. Not any of the newspapermen aboard ever seen so much happiness piled up as on those transport decks.

"You look beautiful," shouted one of the soldiers to us in general. The fitness and glowing health of the men was evident.

The NYPE yacht (New York Port of Embarkation) Dixonia came between us and the General Brooke. A WAC band playing "Accentuate the Positive"—seem-will also be a reading game in each of the schools.

All three games at the main library have drawn many boys and girls to the children's room. There are a number of Indian war bonnets in view. Many of the boys and girls have their book shelves started and others started the quest for the golden apple. At the close of the summer program in the children's room, a prize will be awarded to the winner of each of the games. There will also be a party for the boys and girls with the best reading records.

ingly the theme of the day. Four NYPE civilian girl employees in a row on the foredeck were dancing in a line, kicking away tirelessly. Their routine was ragged but the applause they got would have thrilled any professional.

We followed the General Brooke to a Hudson river pier near the foot of West Forty Second street because from a confidential personnel sheet, we knew that Pfc. Louis B. Lind, of Russell was aboard. The transport docked about seven o'clock, and it was 8:20 o'clock when the first G. I. raced down the gangplank amid a roar from the other thousands aboard. It was three o'clock in the afternoon when the unit with which Pfc. Lind was attached, heavily burdened with duffle bags loaded with souvenirs, came down to acknowledge the roll call that was conducted throughout the day by a group of WACs and embarkation officers.

On the pier the boys were all given doughnuts and their choice of lemonade or milk, by Red Cross workers who toiled tirelessly throughout the long, hot day. About five o'clock we crossed the Hudson on a ferry and boarded a train at Jersey City. The boys kept watching out the car windows as we rolled along—looking at everything American. The industrial section of New Jersey from the Hudson to Elizabeth is not the loveliest American scenery but it looked awfully good to those boys—including the women and girls waving from doorways opening on the railway tracks. Besides the Times-Mirror representative there was but one other newspaperman on the train, Bob French, of the Toledo Blade. All others had managed to catch earlier trains from New York to Camp Kilmer. Many of them had in mind the steak dinner that had been promised at one o'clock—which we missed.

DON'T GO TO CAMP

Indiantown Gap, June 26—(P)—Brig. Gen. Malcolm F. Lindsey appealed today to families of soldiers being returned from overseas not to visit them during the time they are at this military post's separation center because "adequate housing and food can not be provided." He said in most cases soldiers will be processed within 24 hours and sent on their way home.

Off at the Camp Kilmer platform the boys threw their bar racks bags onto trucks and in columns of three marched into the vast camp. The temperature was over 100 in the sun. The men were wearing their ETO wool battle jackets, but they swung along in easy ground covering march that had the correspondents stepping to keep up with them. The half-mile march in that heat showed the beautiful condition of these soldiers.

While marching along with the wall of a large wooden building on their left the men were ordered to break columns and enter the several doorways. They found themselves in a large blue theatre holding a thousand—with a colored dance band on the stage and sending it hot.

Col. Joseph S. Snyder, Camp Kilmer's executive officer walked on to the stage and took the microphone. He assured the men that their stay at Kilmer would not be long, and he promised to make it as pleasant as possible.

The dinner at Camp Kilmer was followed by a visit to the quarter-master, where they got summer uniforms, their "suntans", which was perhaps the greatest treat the men had experienced since sighting the good old U. S. A.

The men were then at leisure and there was a concerted rush for telephones. Soon it was dark. Singly and in groups the men wandered over to service clubs and theatres and sprinkled liberally through the post. Numerous parties had been arranged. Bands played welcome music and girls had come to dance with them from near-by New Brunswick, along with WACs and nurses.

At the reception for newspapermen held in an officers' club at Camp Kilmer Friday evening, the Times-Mirror reporter was surprised to encounter Lieut. Joanne Brazee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Brazee, of Youngville, WAC in the Medical Corps, who expected to leave the following day for overseas assignment. Another well known to many in Warren, was in the newspaper party, in the person of Lucien C. Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucien J. Warren, of Jamestown, who holds the important assignment of Washington correspondent for the Buffalo Courier Express, on special assignment to cover the arrival of the Division.

The reasons back of the invitations to the press to be present were evident at every move. The War Department has a speed-up program that allows for no unnecessary delays in getting the boys from the ships to their home centers, whether it be for discharge or furlough. Under-Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson, who had flown from Washington to welcome the men at Kilmer, along with Representative Walter G. Andrews of the House Military Affairs Committee and Maj. Gen. Charles P. Gross, chief of transportation of the Army Service Forces, said sobly "This new program is a very important thing. It will speed our troops to the Pacific in short order. Several more complete divisions will return this month and in the months to follow."

By GEORGE TUCKER
Wiesbaden, Germany.—(P)—A small group of highly specialized United States army officers representing all branches of the service had the important task of questioning all military and political prisoners as they fall into Allied hands.

In a country such as Germany is now, with communications ruined, cities leveled and travel greatly restricted, the officers work in teams known as mobile field interrogation units. The simplified name is MAFTU.

The identity of the prisoner determines which units have priority. Goering, as chief of the German air force, first was handed over to the air prisoner of war interrogation detachment who cross-examined him on every phase of the Luftwaffe, offensively and defensively, and also on his knowledge of Allied airpower. Later he was questioned by officers interested in the political side of Goering's experiences as one of the members of Hitler's inner circle.

When Brigadier Ferdinand Flury came into Allied custody, he was interrogated by representatives of the board of chemical warfare, Flury, a well known toxicologist of Wurtemberg University, served as medical advisor of the German chemical warfare board. His title of Brigadier was honorary and implied no military authority.

Whether Flury satisfied their curiosity remains a "top secret" matter. When General Fritz Bayerlein surrendered the remnant of his tank corps in the Ruhr April 16 he was questioned at great length by officers interested in armored vehicles and mobile warfare.

Bayerlein was a frank commentator on his record on both African and European battlefields led American officers to describe him in their official reports as "a soldier's soldier."

Rural and Farm ELECTRIC SERVICE EXTENSIONS

The lifting of restrictions by the War Production Board since V-E Day will allow us to extend our facilities for serving Rural and Farm areas subject only to the shortage of materials and labor. If you have applied to us for service we hope to serve you very soon; if you haven't signed an application for service, why not stop at one of our District Offices and do so. Lowered monthly minimum guarantees recently made effective by Penelec will make our services available to everyone in the area we serve.

We will construct rural extensions when the assured revenue per mile of line is $12.00 per month, apportioned among the customers to be served. For example—if six customers per mile, the monthly minimum would be $2.00 each; if four customers per mile, the monthly minimum would be $3.00 each.

When nine or more customers are served per mile of line, the regular monthly minimum for the area applies.
